

Youth Girls football is alive and well in Melton

The Melton Bloods will meet local rivals Sunbury in their Round 5 clash of AFL Vic's Western Youth Girls competition on Saturday May 30.

The game will be played at Blackwood Drive Reserve, Melton starting at 10:30am

All games are usually played in Melbourne, so girls from both teams welcome the chance to play a traditional home and away clash.

Both junior clubs have worked hard to embrace the concept of Youth Girls football and provide vibrant, enjoyable and professional environments for their female participants.

With record number of girls being attracted to the national Auskick Program, establishing a strong youth girls competition is vital to completing local pathways from junior to senior football.

It is hoped a large crowd will be in attendance to witness a high standard game played in the best of spirits.

The Sunbury club will host a return game in August, when both clubs will compete for the Joanne Duncan Cup.
